

...○ The Gateway

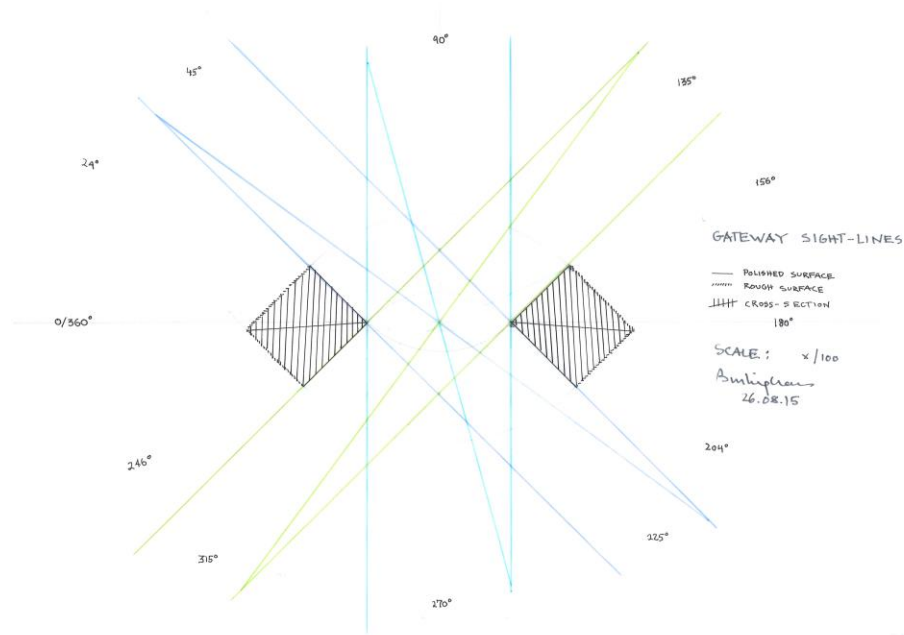

The Gateway is an installation that allows the viewer to traverse the passage from the tangible to the intangible

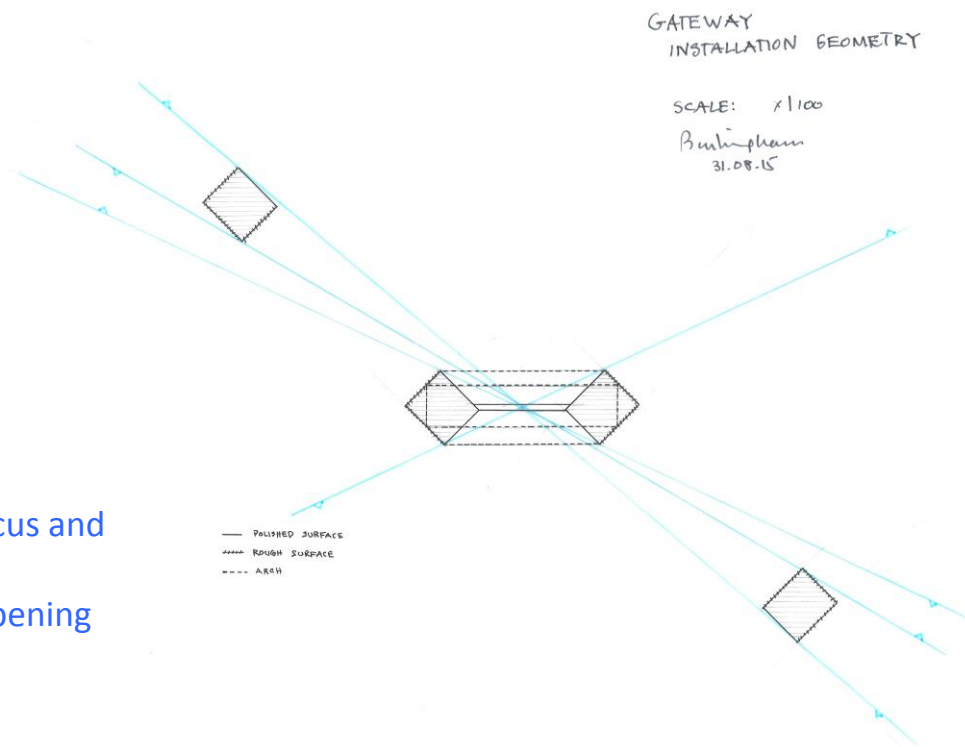

The Geometry

The geometry of the Gateway Installation directs focus and energy through an invisible membrane captured by intersecting planes of sight through its channeled opening

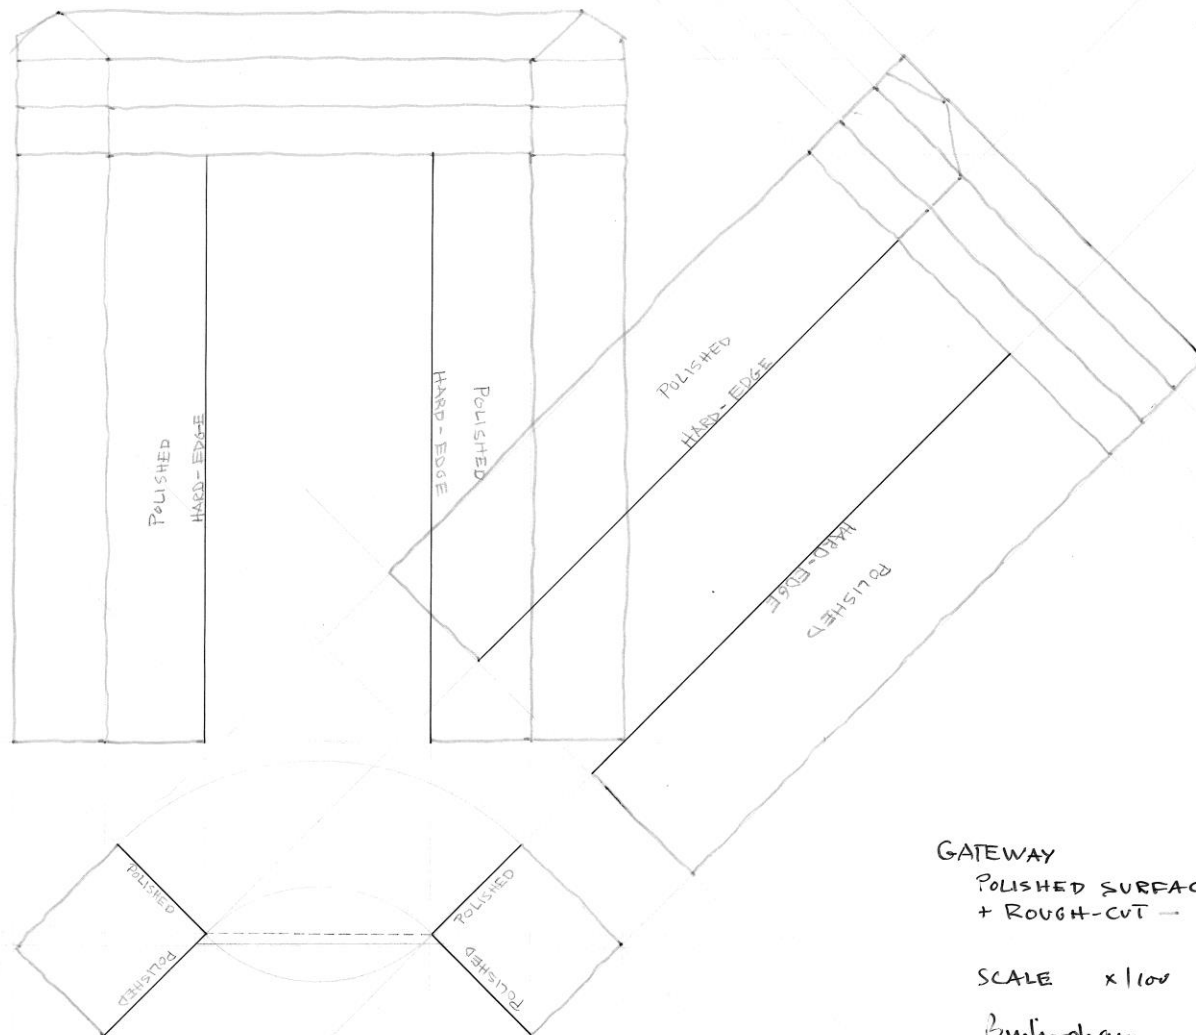

The membrane that separates the tangible and the intangible is experienced through lines of sight that grow and shrink and disappear

GATEWAY
POLISHED SURFACES -
+ ROUGH-CUT -

SCALE x100

Burlingham
20.08.15

The surfaces are a contrast of rough and polished;
at times directing the light through the Gateway;
at other moments blocking its flow.

The DNA Influencers that inform my work

William Brewster, educated at University of Cambridge (1584), organizer of Mayflower, and the Pilgrim's religious leader.

Jessé de Forest, first settled Manhattan – Huguenots. Monuments exist in Avesnes, France and in Battery City Park, NYC in his honor.

Dr. Comfort Starr brought his family from Kent, England, to New Towne (now Cambridge), where he reestablished his surgery practice in 1635. According to family history, Dr. Starr's house became the home of Nathaniel Eaton and served in 1639 as the site where Harvard College instruction began (text from Harvard's website)

Rev. Comfort Starr graduated from Harvard College (in 1647), and is one of five Fellows named in the Harvard College Charter of 1650, the document that officially incorporated the school.

Richard March Hoe, inventor of the rotary printing press. This invention made inexpensive mass communication possible. The Hoe's are founding members of the MET Museum.

Charles Lewis Tiffany – Founder Tiffany & Co.

Robert de Forest – Founder American Wing of the MET Museum, Lawyer, President of the MET Museum.

Louis Comfort Tiffany, artist

Charles C. Burlingham, lawyer – Titanic, President NY Bar, / JP Morgan; LaGuardia; FDR, & Supreme Court; IAS (Institute for Advanced Study) facilitator /

Dorothy Tiffany Burlingham, analyst – closely associated with both Sigmund Freud and his daughter Anna Freud.

George F. Kennan, diplomat and historian is related through marriage and served as a surrogate father to Stephen Burlingham

stephen@stephen-burlingham.com
www.stephen-burlingham.com